WOUND PROBABLY FATAL. Dick Luttrell Shoots Jack Meyers, Claiming It is Accidental.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Bristol, Va., October 27.—With a .32-calibre revolver, Dick Luttrell, aged twenty years, shot and in all probability fatally wounded Jack Meyers, a young married man from Dresden, N. C., in a Bristol pawnshop to-day. The bail penetrated the abdomen, and, ranging downward, perforated the intestines in twelve places. Meyers was operated on at St. Luke's Hospital, but peritonitis is feared.

Luttrell surrendered and was locked up. He claims the shooting was accidental. Ho was examining Meyers's revolver, and insists he did not know it was loaded.

Bradstreet's Trade Report.

Bradstreet's to-day will say for Richmond and vicinity:

No new features are noted in trade condition this week. Trading in all lines has been visibly affected by the low price of cotton. However, in lines not dependent on Southern consumption trade is in fair condition. Tobacco sales are heavier as the scason advances, though the quantity of the offerings thus far is poor. Shoes, dry goods and clothing dealers report fair orders. Collections in all lines are extremely slow, and retail trade is not better than fair. Banks are well supplied with currency Raliroads reports show an increased number of idle cars.

All these papers elicited the fullest discussion, and much enthusiasm was shown. In consideration of the fact that this was the first meeting of the association at which papers were read and problems discussed, the attendance on the part of local health officers was surprising, as well as gratifying.

At the conclusion of the scientific program the business session was held. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, Dr. E. C. Levy, Richmond; Vice-Presidents, Dr. J. M. Shackleford, Martinsville; Secretary-Treasurer, Dr. Lucien Lofton, Emporia.

The executive committee, elected at the same meeting, includes the above officers and the following members from the ten congressional districts; First, Dr. J. H. Ayres, Accomac, Second, Dr. E. F.
